

SW101 Research Report Assignment

1 Introduction

In this assignment you will conduct research and write a report analysing one social and community work organisation.

We will be using the USP Research Skill Development (RSD) Framework - Level 1 for this research project. You can view the RSD Framework at this location - http://www.research.usp.ac.fj/?page_id=135.

Read through the following chapters which explain how to use the RSD Framework to complete this assignment.

2 Research Skill Development (RSD) Framework

2.1 Embark and Clarify

So first of all you need to Embark and Clarify and in this project you need to identify a social and community work organisation to study. The organisation should not be one that you have written a report about in another course. Be sure that you get the correct name or title of the organisation, the contact information and the location. You will also need to determine what type of organisation it is and the types of social issues/ work that the organisation is engaged in. Remember that we are looking at social policy practice of the organisation. When doing your research and if you get confused always go back to the centre of the diagram - Embark and Clarify to regain the focus of your research.

2.2 Find and Generate

Next you need to Find and Generate data from both primary sources (interviews and visits to the organisations office) and secondary sources (readings, organisation's web sites, annual reports etc.) The research methodology may combine the following: making a field visit to the organisation, and library, archival and internet research The following questions will help you Generate the data and information you will need for the report.

1. What is the name, abbreviation, acronym, location, contact information, web site and type of the organisation (refer to Hall and Midley's 'Institutions of social policy')? Post this information in the My Basket of Goodies on the Moodle page as well as in the Final Report.
2. What are the organisation's goals and mission?
3. What development paradigm would you classify this organisation using?
4. How are the goals and mission aligned with the MDGs, Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and the Pacific Framework for Regional Development?
5. What are the current goals (may refer to annual work plans, current programmes)?
6. What are the current research and policy practices of the organisation and how are these aligned (if at all) with the MDGs, SDGs and the Pacific Framework for Regional Development?
7. What gives it the right to operate (constitution, legislation, registration with government)?
8. What are the sources of its professional, financial and political support?
9. What are its primary areas of concern?

10. What is the organisational structure - administratively and professionally?

11. Who are the organisation's clients and how do clients perceive the organisation?

2.3 Evaluate and Reflect

As you are Finding and Generating your data and information you must continually Evaluate and Reflect on the credibility of the sources of information that you are using. The following are some questions that you should ask to help you in your Evaluation and Reflection -

Are the sources up-to-date and official?

Are the sources reliable?

Are the sources using correct referencing styles?

Are the sources legitimate?

Are the sources presenting different viewpoints or perspectives?

Is the research methodology that I am using allowing me to collect the information I need to answer the questions I am asking?

2.4 Organise and Manage

Organising and Managing the data and information that you are collecting is another facet of the research. You need to organise your data in such a way as to reveal patterns and themes about the social policy practice of the organisation in relation to the MDGS, SDGs and Pacific Framework for Regional Development. The 11 questions found in 2.2 Find and Generate will be of help to Organise and Manage data and information that you are finding and generating. Remember finding and generating information and data takes time and comes from different sources. As you find the data and information record it under one or more of the 11 questions outlined in 2.2 Find and Generate.

2.5 Analyse and Synthesise

The data and information that you Find and Generate about the organisation's social policy practice needs to be Analysed and Synthesised. This facet of the research will allow you to produce a coherent understanding of the nature of the organisation and its social policy practice in relation to the MDGs, SDGs and the Pacific framework for Regional Development. Analyse and Synthesise is another facet of RSD Framework.

2.6 Communicate and Apply

The Communicate and Apply facet of the RSD Framework is the written Report of the Research Project that you are undertaking. The following format is suggested for your Report.

The Report should not exceed 1,500 words.

It is important to recognise that the report is to be written clearly using full sentences and paragraphs. Tables, charts and graphs should be used where appropriate and presented clearly. Sub - headings will help to sign post the report allowing for greater clarity in reading and writing. Sub - headings also help to sort out and clarify ideas and structure thoughts. In the Appendix you can put the 'Chart of the Organisational Structure' and any pictures etc.

Correctly label the assignment

Prescribed Structure:

1. Introduction - In the introduction briefly, present the topic of the report. Provide Include statements of what is contained in the report and the order of the topics that will be discussed.
2. Literature review - Discuss the literature that was read and how the literature informed the research. For example, if you are researching an NGO, the literature review should summarize the course material and readings in Hall and Midgley that explain NGOs and Civil Society Organizations.
3. Methodology - Briefly outline the methodology that was used to gather the data and information about the organisation. Use references to research methodology from other courses.
4. Presentation of findings and discussion of the findings. In this section, present the data and information that was collected. Discuss the findings in relation to the literature review in section 2 above and include material from the units in this course.
5. Conclusions - Present a brief summary of what the report discussed. Make clear conclusions about the findings and the relevance of the findings to the topic.
6. Reference List.
